

SECOND ACT ABROAD

FREE CHECKLIST

IS SHE REAL?

5 red flags older men miss with Thai women, and exactly what to do about each one.

Whether you've met her in a bar, on an app or you're still just chatting online. Tick the boxes as you go.

FIVE FLAGS. TICK WHAT YOU'VE SEEN.

None of these on its own proves anything. Lovely women tick one box by accident all the time. But when you see two or three together, slow right down.

1

A money problem before you've even met.

On an app, or in the first few days, there's a bill, a debt or a sick relative.

What to do: say you're sorry to hear it, and don't pay. A genuine woman won't bring money into it before she knows you.

☐

2

"I love you" by night three.

Feelings that run faster than yours, with talk of the future almost straight away.

What to do: enjoy the warmth, but don't answer it with promises. Real feelings survive a slower pace.

☐

3

Emergencies that escalate.

First it's 2,000 baht for medicine. Then 20,000 for the hospital. Then a motorbike, a loan shark, the buffalo.

What to do: pay the bill, not the person. If there's a real bill, pay it directly. If there isn't, there's your answer.

☐

4

No paperwork, ever.

School fees with no school. Hospital bills with no hospital name.

What to do: ask, kindly, for the bill so you can pay it directly. Watch how she reacts. That reaction is your answer.

☐

5

No video calls.

Photos like a magazine cover, and an excuse every time you suggest a quick video chat.

What to do: make "a quick video call before we meet" your rule. Some women are shy, so give it a couple of tries. If it never happens, don't meet.

Ticked two or more? Stop sending money, slow everything down, and read the other five flags before you go any further.
